EYK ANALYSIS # 022/0605

ANALYSIS	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> -Chinese yards capacity is then lifted to 40+ containerships yearly in the size 9,000+ -Chinese market share would then be equivalent to 100% of the present S.Korea/Japan building capacity ! -Chinese decision comes late into the scrambled market, as 35 ships (9200+ teu CV ships) due to delivery in the next 5 years (2005 to 2009) -its effects will hit and interfere to the present cycle (said to be 2000/2012), as it will double the world's largest containership's fleet within few time..
PROSPECTIVE	-world's major owners already ordered in total 35 (9200+ teu) and 121 (8000/9200teu) CV ships, as being renewal and new tonnage incoming fleet
EYK watch	permanent over all CV orderbook, worldwide : ratio China/other yard to increasy substantially
